

3/17/19 - WEEK 6 – COLLECTIVE LOGOS

Logos has two distinct definitions depending on which school you are examining. Some view it as the human ability to reason and discuss through the use of logic. Another, more spiritual school, views it as the living substance behind all creation. Which definition do you prefer and why?

How do you balance the energies of intellect and intuition in your life? Faith and facts? Beliefs and provable concepts?

What is your preferred method of healing and what roles do spirituality and science play in that preference? Is this a method generally accepted by the collective consciousness (mainstream) or is it simply what works for you?
